Eat

At Eritrean gem Asmara you can eat the food and the "dish" it came on, too. Get the alit cha dero chicken stew because it's slow-cooked curried chicken and hard-boiled egg with veggies on a huge soft yet strong "plate" of injera bread. It's tear and share in best way.

Drink

Classics are classics for a reason. Next time you're in Gritty McDuff's watching the sunset, order their Original Pub Style Ale for old times' sake. It was a gateway craft beer for many, and still holds its own in flavor with orange rind, beach rose floral notes and snarky bitter bite.
